Sense: Model for the process of understanding by remembrance.

|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1 question (sort) | sense | negative mind | literally (intellectual) | |
| 2 positive (jap) | sense | positive mind | inner (deeper, stubborn) | |
| 3 synthesis | sathe | neutral mind | inner of the inner (wisdom) | |
| 4 transcendent | turiya | no mind | beyond, indescribable (Shiv, Divinity, Soul) | |

Jap: Model for the process of intention to achieve remembrance.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 hold | physical body | subtle speech | breath, khand |
| 2 silence | mental body | thoughts | brahmand |
| 3 japa | causal body | resonance, simran | pind, sahansr |

This process could be compared to swimming and diving. Thinking, that is the mental body, is the water in which we live. The subtle meditation gets rid of concepts by breaking the habit of thinking through repeated and continuous focus on a sacred sound, one mantra. Eventually the mind is still and empty, like the ocean floor. Then we can dive deep into the causal body of pure consciousness, the Soul, the Self, the Atman, the Universal Consciousness.

The word reaches as far as where it comes from." - Hariraf Hayat khan, Mystic of Sound and Music

"What is received through the ears goes deeper into the soul than what is received through any other way." - Hazrat Inayat Khan, The Music of Life

Nanak Narain Narain Shah Faker:
Hindu Ka Guru, Musalmaan Ka Pir

To celebrate holidays together is to pay respect to the rhythms of nature rather than man-made calendars a out of fashion. Since it is inconvenient if the Hindu, Muslim, Christian, Jew, Sikh, Buddhist, Jain, Taoist, Shinto, every year most holy days have been fixed according to the lunar calendar - with few exceptions.

Because the process during the Guru Nanak's birthday did not get fixed in this way, but is still celebrated on the full moon in November, Nanak Narain Narain Shah Faker has been fixed to the first full moon after the Autumn Equinox, the Universal Harvest moon when is service of worldly law, halal or sefharam.

The Guru Granth Sahib is the Universal Scripture and shared. The Divine Light of the Guru is the Universal Consciousness, the Soul and Self. Source of Existence, is a radical counter-proposal to our modern world of religion, politics, and war. The Guru Granth Sahib is the Universal Scripture and shared. The Divine Light of the Guru is the Universal Consciousness, the Soul and Self. Source of Existence, is a radical counter-proposal to our modern world of religion, politics, and war. The Guru Granth Sahib is considered by a complete surrender to the Divine Will and renunciation of any personal ego-identity.

I pour water in it or it will rot it.
You, the Creator, and I can do nothing. If I try, nothing happens."
- Guru Nanak Dev, Japji #28

All Bhagti jewelry shows a spirit of renunciation from the drama and illusion of the human world of ego-identity.

Guru Nanak's message promotes a lifestyle of simplicity which encourages the sharing of wealth. Guru Nanak's life was filled with tireless selfless of humanity to the poor, suffering, and oppressed. He was a model for lack of true understanding and service. Instead, he infused compassion, love, and service into the ordinary life of the householder, the common man. He was a model for the ideal of Universal Love, surrender, devotion, and praises of the One Source of Existence.

Guru Nanak was a cross-dresser. In order to make people stop worshipping him as a guru, he would dress as a woman and act crazy. He knew - but made them experience the much more important lesson - someone with all of his, his need to have control of their own spiritual practice. Guru Nanak was a cross-dresser. He knew - but made them experience the much more important lesson - someone with all of his, his need to have control of their own spiritual practice.

Guru Nanak did not speak, but sang. This way of communicative music is the universal language of the soul. Guru Nanak's Bhagti was a devotional practice of singing and playing the Rabab, a stringed instrument. He channelled the Divine Word ("Shabad") in his poetry. Guru Nanak's Bhagti was a devotional practice of singing and playing the Rabab, a stringed instrument. He channelled the Divine Word ("Shabad") in his poetry.

His practical teachings are strongly about, natural and universal principles of Dharma, Truth, Love, Devotion, Surrender, Service, Humility, Contentment, Charity, Forgiveness, Purity, Simplicity, Karma, and Grace. Guru Nanak's and share everything with everybody ("Vand Chhako").

Complication and confusion are signs of our inhuman non age of darkness, the Kaliyug. We have adorned and worshipped maya (the illusion of the world of ego-identity) as God. Our modern world (human society) is such an ocean filled the fog of artificiality and the arousal of needs and desires have won the better part of our mental, emotional, and physical energies. Our modern world is considered as we flood-tided instead of home-grown vegetables, social media apps and gadgets instead of meeting people ("Sat Sangat"), jobs instead of Seva.

Simplicity does not mean that meditating on the Divine remains within and living in Divine Will is easy, but it makes a statement about priorities. Make meditation the continuous attempt to master activity and thought. Meditation is the practice of the presence of God and the practice of the presence of God. This may be difficult enough to achieve, but it is a simple point of reference to keep in mind and live by.

Translations - Limitation and Bias

In the valid and necessary attempt to "understand" Japji Sahib, translations are necessary. Each one is a unique and valuable interpretation of the Gurmukh text. Each one is a product of its time, culture, languages and the purpose of the scripture and its translation.

Each one is also a product of the bias of the translator. Bias that is ongoing about the impressionistic, uniting the unutterable:

It all ebb and flow, and is the same.

"Even if I know, I cannot speak. It cannot be said in words."
- Lao Tzu, Tao Te Ching

"Using the Sacred Sound, we are in a state of Sahaj, which is a state of ease in a sweet blessing, as a gift."
- Guru Amardas Sahib, Vaar #1

*"Sahaj is the natural, sweet, loving state of union with God
